Gallery Aferro's "Activate: Market Street," is a year-round public art project transforming hundreds of linear feet of vacant storefront windows in Newark's historic downtown district. Storefronts owned by RBH Group on Market Street between Washington and University Streets are activated with installations, films, animation, neon sculptures, kinetic and interactive art, and performative public programming from local, national and international artists. Supported by RBH Group, and created by Gallery Aferro, the project delivers arresting, unexpected, and highly memorable experiences with contemporary art directly to the public, whether residents, students, workers or first-time visitors.

Dub Plate (detail), acrylic on wood, 48 x 48, 2012

Gilbert Hsiao came to New York City from a small town in Indiana to attend Columbia University. Two things that had the most lasting impact in his time there were his studies in the psychology of perception and his exposure to a wide spectrum of music through working as a disc jockey at the Columbia radio station, WKCR. Not offering a degree in art at the time, he left Columbia to study figure drawing and anatomy at the Art Students League, eventually receiving his BFA at Pratt Institute. His work has always incorporated abstract illusions of space, motion, light and time, but with a structure akin to music.

He has participated in residencies at Art Omi (Omi, New York), Marie Walsh Sharpe Foundation (Brooklyn) and Millay Colony for the Arts (Austerlitz, NY), as well as being an ongoing resident at Gallery Aferro, and was a New York Foundation for the Arts Painting Fellow. His work has been seen in such institutions as P.S. 1, Contemporary Arts Museum Houston, the Indianapolis Museum of Art, MassMOCA and the New Jersey Center for the Visual Arts, as well as in commercial galleries and alternative spaces and throughout the Americas, Asia, Europe and Australia.

He works with a variety of aspects pertaining to the mechanics and organization of the sensation of visual perception, and its relationship to the other senses, especially hearing. Fascinated by the whole history of man's attempts to explain vision and its relationship to specific phenomena such as space, light, movement, physical scale and time, his work reflects specific isolated aspects in varying hierarchies of the whole process of seeing in order to intuitively understand that which, perhaps, in the end is not understandable, since the process of studying the senses require the use of those same senses while they are being studied.
